

Rotary Melbourne Community Foundations Bequests Programme

Support the Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation by making a Bequest in your Will, or by adding Codicil to your existing Will.

Your Bequest can be done in different ways:

- By allocating a percentage of your net estate
- By specifying a dollar amount
- By adding the Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation as an "extra child/beneficiary".

If you are updating your Will, your lawyer can advise you on how best to include your Bequest. If your present Will is up to date, you can add a Codicil to your existing document.

Points of interest:

- Your donation to our Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation provides direct funding to our Rotary Melbourne projects.
- The more income that is generated by our Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation, the more projects we can support.
- Our Club Directory identifies Members who are "Special Friends of Rotary Melbourne" and who have indicated they will be remembering our Community Foundation in their Will. We feel honoured to include those names, but should you wish to not be identified, your wishes will be respected.

We do hope you might favourably reflect on this matter.

Leaving a Bequest is a positive way of helping to ensure that your club – Rotary Club of Melbourne – can carry on with its necessary charitable work when you are no longer able to participate personally.
