Bequests Programme

Support the Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation by making a Bequest in your Will, or by adding a Codicil to your existing Will.

Your Bequest can be done in different ways:

- By allocating a percentage of your net estate
- By specifying a dollar amount
- By adding the Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation as an "extra child/beneficiary".

If you are updating your Will, your lawyer can advise you on how best to include your Bequest. If your present Will is up to date, you can add a Codicil to your existing document.

Points of interest:

- Your donation to our Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation provides direct funding to our Rotary Melbourne projects.
- The more income that is generated by our Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation, the more projects we are able to support.
- Our Club Directory identifies Members who are "Special Friends of Rotary Melbourne" and who have indicated they will be remembering our Community Foundation in their Will. We feel honoured to include those names, but should you wish not to be identified, your wishes will be respected.

We hope you will favourably reflect on this matter.

If you have any questions or wish to discuss various options and the process please contact:

Leaving a Bequest is a positive way of helping to ensure that your club – Rotary Melbourne – can carry on with its necessary charitable work when you are no longer able to participate personally.

You can also support the Foundation by becoming a "Special Friend" of Rotary Melbourne Community Foundation by way of an annual Contribution.

Thank you for supporting our Club Projects
